

INT. KITCHEN

Elaine is making cookies from dough in a tube.

CUT TO:

EXT. HOUSE

A cable box. Leonard leans in and cuts the cable.

CUT TO:

INT. LIVING ROOM

A TV playing a daytime talkshow suddenly goes out.

CUT TO:

EXT. BACK YARD

Leonard passes around the back of the house carrying a piece of cable, and enters into a covered patio. He's visible from inside, but doesn't do much to hide.

As he makes it to the door, Elaine sees him from inside. She opens the door. She's puzzled, but ignores her feeling.

ELAINE

What are you doing back here?

LEONARD

Is your cable out? I'm getting no signal, and the cable company has a technician strike.

ELAINE

I think it just went out.

A timer goes off in the kitchen.

ELAINE

Actually, do you mind checking?
It's in the living room.

She runs inside. Leonard follows.

CUT TO:

INT. KITCHEN

Elaine is by the counter working with a sheet of cookies.

Leonard walks slowly and deliberately towards her, comes up behind her and suddenly wraps his arm around her throat. She screams and chokes.

As he holds her, he wraps the piece of cable around her throat. The sheet of cookies is thrown on the floor. She fights him, but he's too strong.

Elaine fades. He gives her one final strangle, then drops her on the floor where she falls lifeless.

He leans down, grabs a cookie on the floor, then gets up and walks out eating the cookie.
